

MRS. YAZVAC'S 6TH GRADE NEWSLETTER

Week of January 10 - 14, 2022

Back to our regular routine! (Or are we?)

Hello, Sixth Graders!

Monday is the first day of the new grading period! Everyone has a fresh start. Everyone can complete their work and turn it in on time! Everyone can, but will they?

We are shuffling seats today. Hopefully, you will have a screenshot of the new seating chart on your iPad. (I posted it to Google Classroom on Friday night.) That way, if the internet is being cranky, we can still figure out where our seats go!

We are having our Spelling Set #5 Test on Monday. If you have been working on Quizlet, you are READY!

Someday (possibly this week) we will be having our raffle for the last 9 weeks. We have a whole, five day week ahead! However, we do get a little treat on Friday. On Friday, we go to the Robinson Grand Theater in the morning to see Notre Dame's production of The Little mermaid. (Break a leg, Stella and Annagrace!) I'm looking forward to seeing the show! If you have your permission forms, please put them into the blue tray.

We will be taking down our tree this week. Thank you again, Caroline, for the beautiful tree! It made our classroom so festive! Everyone may take their own Christmas ornaments home and help us put Caroline's shiny bulbs back into the boxes.

MATH: We are moving along in our book with the next lesson. We are also reviewing stem-and-leaf plots and getting more practice finding mean, median, mode, and range of a data set.

Everyone should be working on completing a Sumdog skill. I will be projecting some of your work to help the whole class with new concepts. We will also be looking at the upcoming MAP Test. There are some practice tests we can work on together.

READING/ENGLISH/SPELLING: We will continue working on our Writer's Workshop folders, editing sentences, reading Holes, reading TFK, and putting together our group presentations for Summer Reading Books. (Whooo! That is a lot!) Some of you might want to read another one of those summer selections after you hear the reports. It would be a great way to earn some more AR points!

RELIGION: Piety and Prayer

Love you like a Grandma, Mrs. Yazvac
