

Mrs. Yazvac's 6TH GRADE NEWSLETTER

Week of January 11 - 15, 2021

Greetings Sixth Graders!

I am proud of all of your hard work last week. Thank you for being responsible students who use their online time wisely. I appreciate your effort! Here is what we will try to cover this week.

Math: Now that we have completed our Cans and Strings project, we will be using what we learned to do some really neat estimations. You are going to be able to figure out the circumference or diameter of given circles in your head so easily!! I'll bet you can't wait! We will also be working with Mean, Median, Mode and Range.

English/Language Arts We are writing and sharing holiday traditions. Your essay is due by Friday. There is a new TFK magazine to read (January 15 issue). They have already posted a few interesting articles.

Social Studies: Let's try again with that Quizziz review of Chapter 23. We will have our rematch - Boys vs Girls - on that Tic-Tac-Toe Lesson 3 review! Please remind me to do that! You should now know how to spell the 7 continents and find them on a map. Next step? Finding all of our 50 States on a map of the United States! I have a neat online game for you to play that will help you learn these!

Religion: We will be back in our Religion text this week. Let's start on the next page! Do you remember where we were?

 Please remember to read for AR everyday. You need to complete 30 minutes of Sumdog for a grade again this week. Those minutes must be completed by 9:00 p.m. on Friday.

As far as I know, the plan is still to be back together, in person, on the 19th. We will have our "Christmas" then!

Science - DANCING RAISINS! (Notice how I made that purple?)
